

Technical Data Sheet

FLAMRO Universal Fire Protection Tape® UBB

Construction material approval Z-19.11-1902

Definition

FLAMRO Universal fire protection tape® UBB is a flexible, foaming building material when exposed to fire. It contains a high amount of expandable graphite and is free of solvent, halogen and silicate.

Application Areas

- Indoor and outdoor use
- Sealing of cracks and joints

Technical Data

Density	1100 kg/m ³
Foaming rate with load (400 °C)	20-times (depending on thickness)
Foaming rate without load (400 °C)	27-times (depending on thickness)
Start of expansion	200 - 220 °C
Direction of action	Three-dimensional

Supplied forms

FLAMRO Universal fire protection tape is available in a variety of thicknesses, widths and lengths. It can be delivered with or without self-adhesive equipment.

This technical information represents our current level of knowledge and experience. Changes without prior notification are reserved. Please use respective, new technical information since our level of knowledge and experience is constantly evolving. In case of doubt, please contact FLAMRO. Described application examples do not include special circumstances of individual cases and are hence followed without responsibility. Other than that, the terms and conditions of FLAMRO Brandschutz-Systeme GmbH apply exclusively (new version).